21. Questions

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

When Aarav joined a new residential school, he found it difficult to adjust to the unfamiliar environment. Although surrounded by hundreds of students, he often felt isolated and hesitant to initiate conversations. During his first week, he accidentally misplaced an important notebook containing months of handwritten assignments. As anxiety began to overwhelm him, another student named Vivaan quietly approached him and offered assistance. Together, they searched every classroom, library shelf, and playground bench until the notebook was finally recovered. Grateful for the unexpected kindness, Aarav gradually became more confident. Over the following months, the two students developed a friendship built on mutual respect, honesty, and unwavering support. Whenever one of them encountered academic difficulties, the other patiently explained complex concepts without expecting anything in return. Their teachers frequently appreciated their willingness to cooperate rather than compete.

One day, the school announced an inter-school science exhibition. Aarav and Vivaan decided to participate together despite facing stiff competition from experienced teams. They spent several weeks researching innovative ideas, conducting experiments, and refining their presentation. Although their first few attempts were unsuccessful, neither allowed disappointment to weaken their determination. Instead, every setback became an opportunity to identify mistakes and improve their project.

On the day of the exhibition, the judges were particularly impressed by their creativity, teamwork, and confidence while answering challenging questions. Although they did not secure the first prize, they received a special award for originality and collaborative spirit. More importantly, they realized that genuine friendship is measured not by trophies or recognition but by trust, perseverance, and the willingness to stand beside one another during both success and failure. Years later, despite pursuing different careers and living in different cities, they continued to remain close friends, proving that sincere relationships often endure the passage of time.

Explanations:

1. Questions

Answer: E

The sentence is already grammatically and contextually correct. The adverb carefully modifies the verb prepared, fresh correctly describes spices, slowly modifies stirring, and aromatic describes the final state of the ingredients.

@RankZenBanker

2. Questions

Answer: A

The highlighted words are incorrectly placed in the sentence. Rearranging them in the order QSPR gives:

- Q → wear
- S → avoid
- P → prevent
- R → spreading

The correct sentence is: Doctors advised people to wear masks and avoid crowded places to prevent the virus from spreading infection.

3. Questions

Answer: C

The highlighted words are incorrectly placed. Rearranging them in the order QRPS gives:

- Q → malnutrition
- R → proper
- P → nutrition
- S → growth

The correct sentence is: Many children suffer from malnutrition because they do not receive proper balanced nutrition during their years of growth.

4. Questions

Answer: D

The highlighted words are misplaced. Rearranging them in the order RQPS gives:

- R → happily
- Q → colourful
- P → enormous
- S → sky

Correct sentence: Children happily flew colourful kites across the enormous bright sky during the festival.

5. Questions

Answer: A

The highlighted words are incorrectly placed. Rearranging them in the order QPSR gives:

- Q → thoroughly
- P → accurate
- S → public
- R → responsible

Correct sentence: The reporter thoroughly verified information before publishing accurate news to maintain public trust through responsible journalism.

6. Questions

Answer: E

@RankZenBanker

The word ignoring correctly conveys that people fail to pay attention to their responsibilities because of excessive smartphone use. It fits both grammatically and contextually.

Option Analysis:

- A). Neglecting – Similar meaning but "ignoring" is more natural here.
- B). Avoiding – Suggests intentional evasion rather than lack of attention.
- C). Overlooking – Means failing to notice, which is weaker.
- D). Remembering – Opposite meaning.
- E). Correct. No replacement is needed.

7. Questions

Answer: C

Excessive screen time does not improve sleep quality; instead, it disturbs or negatively affects sleep. Therefore, the highlighted word should be replaced.

Option Analysis:

- A). Enhance – Similar to improve; incorrect.
- B). Maintain – Does not convey the negative effect.

C). Disturb – Correct. It accurately reflects the impact of prolonged screen time.

D). Support – Opposite contextual meaning.

E). Incorrect because replacement is required.

8. Questions

Answer: B

The sentence describes how frequent mobile notifications take users' attention away from important work. Therefore, the verb distract (to divert someone's attention) is the most suitable replacement.

The highlighted word motivate means to encourage someone to do something, which completely changes the intended meaning and does not fit the context.

Option Analysis:

A). Encourage – Incorrect. It is similar to motivate and does not express loss of concentration.

B). Distract – Correct. It means to divert attention, which perfectly matches the context.

C). Inspire – Incorrect. It means to fill someone with the urge to do something positive.

D). Persuade – Incorrect. It means to convince someone, which is unrelated here.

E). No replacement required – Incorrect because motivate is contextually inappropriate.

9. Questions

Answer: D

@RankZenBanker

The passage discusses the negative consequences of excessive smartphone usage. Therefore, harmful is the appropriate replacement.

Option Analysis:

A). Positive – Opposite meaning.

B). Favourable – Incorrect.

C). Useful – Incorrect.

D). Harmful – Correct. Fits the negative context.

E). Incorrect because replacement is needed.

10. Questions

Answer: B

The sentence highlights the positive effects of limiting screen time and participating in outdoor activities. Such habits promote or encourage a healthier lifestyle. The highlighted word discourage means to prevent or reduce someone's confidence or willingness, which conveys the opposite meaning and is therefore inappropriate in this context.

Option Analysis:

A). Prevent – Incorrect. It also conveys a negative meaning and does not fit the context.

- B). Encourage – Correct. It means to promote or support, making the sentence logical and grammatically correct.
- C). Reduce – Incorrect. A healthier lifestyle is not "reduced."
- D). Restrict – Incorrect. It does not fit the intended meaning.
- E). No replacement required – Incorrect because discourage is contextually opposite to the intended idea.

11. Questions

Answer: B

Sentence I: Correct. The sentence is grammatically correct and logically structured.

Sentence II: Incorrect. After verbs like suggested that, the subjunctive form (base verb) should be used.

- Incorrect: suggested that she takes
- Correct: suggested that she take

Sentence III: Correct. The sentence properly uses the modal verb can help reduce.

12. Questions

Answer: C

Sentence I: Correct. Subject-verb agreement and sentence structure are correct.

Sentence II: Correct. The connector because is properly used.

Sentence III: Incorrect. The preposition for must be followed by a gerund.

- Incorrect: responsible for ensure
- Correct: responsible for ensuring

13. Questions

Answer: C

Sentence I: Correct. The phrase accused of is correctly used.

Sentence II: Correct. The passive structure is grammatically sound.

Sentence III: Incorrect. Despite should be followed by a noun phrase or gerund, not a clause.

- Incorrect: Despite the investigation was ongoing
- Correct: Although the investigation was ongoing
- OR Despite the ongoing investigation

14. Questions

Answer: B

Sentence I: Correct. The sentence is grammatically sound.

Sentence II: Incorrect. The verb encourage is followed by an object + infinitive.

- Incorrect: encourage people reducing
- Correct: encourage people to reduce

Sentence III: Correct. The modal verb can is appropriately used.

15. Questions

Answer: C

Sentence I: Correct. The sentence is grammatically correct and logically structured.

Sentence II: Correct. The relative clause that can improve is appropriately used.

Sentence III: Incorrect. In the if-clause of a first conditional sentence, will is not used.

- Incorrect: If the authorities will implement
- Correct: If the authorities implement

16. Questions

Answer: A

ANTONYM of "prevention"

- Prevention means stopping an illness or problem before it occurs.
- Cure means treating or removing an illness after it has already occurred, making it the most direct antonym in this medical context.

SYNONYM of "effective"

- Effective means producing the intended result or achieving a desired outcome.
- Efficient is a direct synonym that means working successfully and achieving maximum productivity.

B (protection – useful): Protection is a synonym (not an antonym) of prevention, and useful is weaker in meaning than effective.

C (aid – practical): Aid refers to general help rather than treating a disease post-occurrence, while practical refers to real-world application rather than high efficacy.

D (awareness – successful): Awareness is an early step in prevention rather than its opposite, making it an incorrect antonym choice.

E (defence – productive): Defence is a synonym of prevention, and productive focuses on yield/output rather than achieving a specific target result.

17. Questions

Answer: C

Management refers to organizing and controlling resources. Its opposite is mismanagement. Careful means giving close attention to detail, and meticulous carries the same meaning in this context.

Option Analysis:

- A). Supervision is similar to management.
- B). Administration is also similar.
- C). Correct. Both words satisfy the requirement.

D). Organization is not an antonym.

E). Regulation is not opposite to management.

18. Questions

Answer: B

Mitigation means reducing the seriousness of a problem. Its opposite is aggravation, meaning making something worse. Severe means very serious, making serious the most suitable synonym.

Option Analysis:

A). Reduction is similar to mitigation.

B). Correct. Both words fit perfectly.

C). Prevention is not opposite.

D). Control is unrelated.

E). Relief is similar to mitigation.

19. Questions

Answer: C

Vigilant means watchful and alert. Its opposite is negligent, meaning careless or inattentive. Extremist is the closest synonym for terrorist in the given context.

Option Analysis:

@RankZenBanker

A). Alert is a synonym of vigilant.

B). Cautious is also similar.

C). Correct. Both words satisfy the requirement.

D). Criminal is broader in meaning.

E). Careful is not an antonym.

20. Questions

Answer: D

ANTONYM of "abundant"

- Abundant means existing or available in large quantities (plentiful).
- Scarce means insufficient or available in very small amounts, making it the exact antonym.
- SYNONYM of "enthusiastic"
 - Enthusiastic means showing intense enjoyment, interest, or approval.
 - Excited is a direct synonym that conveys strong eagerness and enthusiasm.

Why the other options are wrong:

- A (plentiful - excited): Plentiful is a synonym of abundant, not an antonym.
- B (sufficient - delighted): Sufficient means adequate (not an antonym of abundant), and delighted means pleased rather than enthusiastic.

- C (volatility - cheerful): Volatility refers to liability to change rapidly and unpredictably, which is contextually unrelated to harvest size.
- E (explode - interested): Explode is a verb (grammatically incorrect part of speech for describing "harvest") and structurally unrelated to abundant.

21. Questions

Answer: B

In the passage, the word “isolated” is used to describe Aarav’s feeling when he was unable to connect with others in the new school environment. Although he was surrounded by many students, he felt separated and hesitant to interact with them. Therefore, “lonely” is the closest meaning of “isolated” as it refers to a feeling of being alone or disconnected from others. The other options do not match the context because cheerful, popular, energetic, and confident describe positive states that are opposite to Aarav’s situation.

22. Questions

Answer: B

Aarav became anxious during his first week at school because he accidentally misplaced an important notebook that contained months of handwritten assignments. Losing the notebook created stress and worry for him, as the assignments were valuable and difficult to replace. The passage mentions that his anxiety increased until Vivaan noticed his situation and offered help in searching for the missing notebook. Therefore, the correct answer is B) He misplaced an important notebook.

23. Questions

Answer: E

@RankZenBanker

Vivaan decided to help Aarav because he noticed that Aarav was feeling anxious after losing his important notebook. Instead of ignoring his problem, Vivaan approached him and offered assistance in finding it. His action was based on kindness and concern, as he helped Aarav without expecting anything in return. The passage highlights that their friendship later developed through mutual respect and support. Therefore, Option E is the correct answer.

24. Questions

Answer: C

According to the passage, Aarav and Vivaan’s friendship was built on mutual respect, honesty, and unwavering support. After Vivaan helped Aarav recover his misplaced notebook, their bond gradually became stronger. They continued to support each other academically, patiently explained difficult concepts, and cooperated instead of competing. The passage clearly states that their friendship was founded on trust, respect, and continuous support rather than external factors like popularity, family background, or sports participation. Therefore, Option C is the correct answer.

25. Questions

Answer: A

In the passage, the word “refining” is used in the sentence “They spent several weeks researching innovative ideas, conducting experiments, and refining their presentation.” Here, refining means making something better by improving its quality, accuracy, or effectiveness through careful changes. Aarav and Vivaan worked on their presentation repeatedly to make it more effective before the exhibition. Therefore, “improving” is the closest meaning of “refining.” The other options such as rejecting, delaying, ignoring, and destroying do not fit the context.

26. Questions

Answer: C

Aarav and Vivaan did not win the first prize at the science exhibition, but their creativity, teamwork, and cooperation impressed the judges. The passage states that they received a special award for originality and collaborative spirit, recognising their innovative approach and ability to work together effectively. Therefore, the correct answer is Option C. The other options are incorrect because no such awards, such as Best Innovation Award, Best Presentation Award, or Young Scientist Award, are mentioned in the passage.

27. Questions

Answer: D

After their initial attempts at the science project failed, Aarav and Vivaan did not give up or lose motivation. Instead, they treated each setback as an opportunity to understand their mistakes and improve their project. They continued researching, experimenting, and refining their presentation until it became successful. Therefore, Option D is the correct answer because it accurately reflects their determination and problem-solving approach. The other options are incorrect as they either suggest giving up, blaming each other, or seeking outside help, none of which is mentioned in the passage.

28. Questions

Answer: C

@RankZenBanker

Aarav and Vivaan remained close friends even after many years because their relationship was based on strong values such as trust, perseverance, and mutual support. The passage explains that although they pursued different careers and lived in different cities, their sincere bond continued because they always stood by each other during both successes and failures. Their friendship was not dependent on living nearby, working together, or participating in common activities. Therefore, Option C is the correct answer.

29. Questions

Answer: D

Sentences (i), (ii), (iii), and (v) share the common theme of the petrochemical manufacturing industry—covering raw materials, production output, resource consumption, and environmental management.

Sentence (iv) diverges from this theme by discussing retail petrol stations and digital payment methods for consumer refueling, which pertains to retail fuel sales rather than industrial petrochemical processing.

30. Questions

Answer: A

Statements i, ii, iii, and iv all focus on the core qualities, values, and pedagogical roles of an individual teacher (cultivating curiosity, fostering empathy, showing patience, and demonstrating integrity).

Statement v stands out as the odd one out because it shifts the theme to an institutional policy reform by a regulatory board (CBSE) rather than the personal attributes of a teacher.

31. Questions

Answer: E

Statements i, ii, iv, and v share a common theme centered on organizational governance, policies, and administrative frameworks (clear reporting structures, workplace policies, ethical codes of conduct, and grievance handling).

Statement iii is the odd one out because it shifts the focus to the physical environment and ergonomic workspace design (furniture and lighting) rather than institutional governance or behavioral policies.

32. Questions

Answer: C

Sentences (i), (ii), (iii), and (iv) all focus on the production phase—specifically, the duties, techniques, and equipment care responsibilities of a camera operator during shooting.

Sentence (v) diverges from this primary theme by shifting to the post-production phase and discussing the role of post-production editors during editing.
