- b. (H, F)
- c. (E, F)
- d. (H, C)

Explanations:

1. Questions

Final Arrangement:

We have,

- F faces the center.
- A sits second to the right of F.
- B sits third to the left of A.

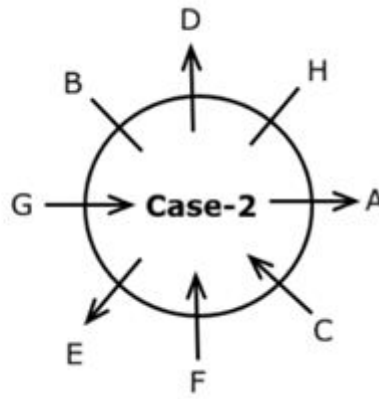

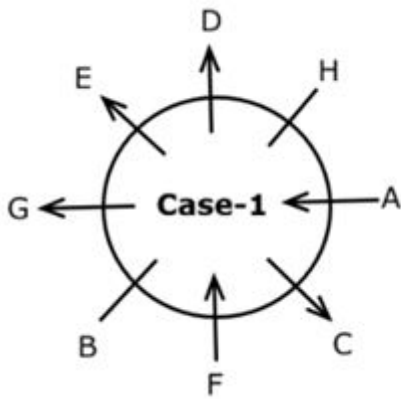

From the above condition, there are two possibilities

Again, we have,

- Only one person sits between B and E.
- G is an immediate neighbor of both B and E.
- D sits opposite to F, but faces the opposite direction to F.
- C sits third to the right of D and faces the same direction as G.
- The person who sits immediate to the left of A faces the opposite direction to A.
- E faces outside but is not an immediate neighbor of A.

@QuizByMickey

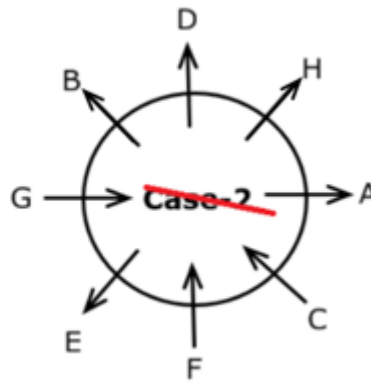

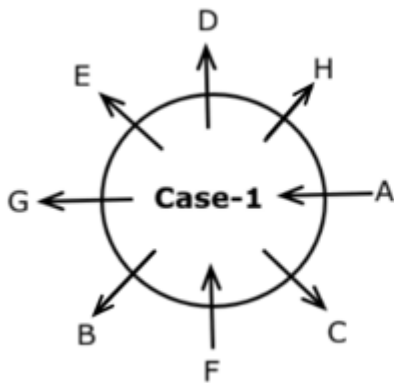

Again, we have,

- Neither B nor H faces the same direction as A.
- The person who sits to the immediate right of G is not the same person who sits second to the left of C.

From the above condition, case-2 gets eliminated because the person who sits to the immediate right of G is not the same person who sits second to the left of C, which is not satisfied.

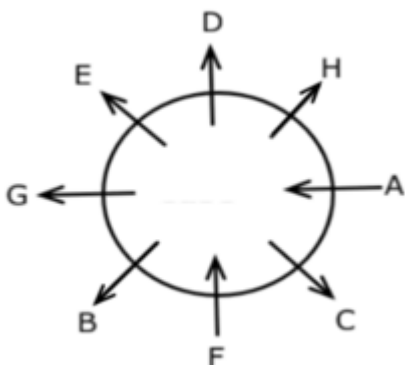

Hence, case-1 shows the final arrangement

Answer: B

2. Questions

Final Arrangement:

Hence, case-1 shows the final arrangement

Answer: E

Final arrangement:

|         | Window 1 | Window 2 | Window 3 | Window 4 | Window 5 | Window 6 |

We have,

- The Cash service was handled at an odd-numbered window.
- B sits to the immediate left of the window, handled NEFT service and second to the right of the window, handled Forex service.

- The RTGS service was handled at window 4.

From the above conditions, there are three possibilities.

Again, we have,

- A sits somewhere to the right of the window, handled Cash service, but not an immediate neighbor of the window, handled RTGS service.
- The NEFT service was not handled at any of the end windows.
- Neither D nor C handled cheque service.
- The Loan service was handled to the left of the cheque.
- D sits either on window 1 or window 6.

From the above conditions, case-3 gets eliminated because the NEFT service was not handled at any of the end windows, which is not satisfied.

Here, case-1 is split into case-1a

- C did not handle cash service.

From the above conditions, case-1 and case-2 get eliminated because E was an immediate neighbor of the one who handled cash service and sits third to the left of F and C did not handle cash service, which is not satisfied.

Hence, case-1a shows the final arrangement.

- The RTGS service was handled at window 4.

From the above conditions, there are three possibilities.

Again, we have,

- A sits somewhere to the right of the window, handled Cash service, but not an immediate neighbor of the window, handled RTGS service.
- The NEFT service was not handled at any of the end windows.
- Neither D nor C handled cheque service.
- The Loan service was handled to the left of the cheque.
- D sits either on window 1 or window 6.

From the above conditions, case-3 gets eliminated because the NEFT service was not handled at any of the end windows, which is not satisfied.

Here, case-1 is split into case-1a

Again, we have,

- E was an immediate neighbor of the one who handled cash service and sits third to the left of F.
- C did not handle cash service.

From the above conditions, case-1 and case-2 get eliminated because E was an immediate neighbor of the one who handled cash service and sits third to the left of F and C did not handle cash service, which is not satisfied.

Hence, case-1a shows the final arrangement.

Final arrangement:

|         | Window 1 | Window 2 | Window 3 | Window 4 | Window 5 | Window 6 |
|---------|----------|----------|----------|----------|----------|----------|
| Persons | D        | E        | C        | B        | F        | A        |
| Service | Cash     | Forex    | Loan     | RTGS     | NEFT     | Cheque   |

We have,

- The Cash service was handled at an odd-numbered window.
- B sits to the immediate left of the window, handled NEFT service and second to the right of the window, handled Forex service.
- The RTGS service was handled at window 4.

From the above conditions, there are three possibilities.

|        |         | Window 1 | Window 2 | Window 3 | Window 4 | Window 5 | Window 6 |
|--------|---------|----------|----------|----------|----------|----------|----------|
| Case-1 | Persons |          |          |          | B        |          |          |
|        | Service | Cash     | Forex    |          | RTGS     | NEFT     |          |
| Case-2 | Persons |          |          |          | B        |          |          |
|        | Service |          | Forex    | Cash     | RTGS     | NEFT     |          |
| Case-3 | Persons |          |          |          |          | B        |          |
|        | Service |          |          | Forex    | RTGS     | Cash     | NEFT     |

Again, we have,

- A sits somewhere to the right of the window, handled Cash service, but not an immediate neighbor of the window, handled RTGS service.
- The NEFT service was not handled at any of the end windows.
- Neither D nor C handled cheque service.
- The Loan service was handled to the left of the cheque.
- D sits either on window 1 or window 6.

From the above conditions, case-3 gets eliminated because the NEFT service was not handled at any of the end windows, which is not satisfied.

Here, case-1 is split into case-1a

|                          |                | Window 1 | Window 2 | Window 3 | Window 4 | Window 5 | Window 6 |

Again, we have,

- E was an immediate neighbor of the one who handled cash service and sits third to the left of F.
- C did not handle cash service.

From the above conditions, case-1 and case-2 get eliminated because E was an immediate neighbor of the one who handled cash service and sits third to the left of F and C did not handle cash service, which is not satisfied.

Hence, case-1a shows the final arrangement.

Again, we have,

- F was born immediately before G.
- As many persons were born before D as after I.
- A was born neither in 1995 nor in 2004.
- The number of persons born before F is one more than the number of persons born after H.

From the above conditions, case-2 and case-2a gets eliminated because J was born after B, but before C, which is not satisfied and case-3 gets eliminated because C was born in an even-numbered year, which is not satisfied.

Hence, case-1 shows the final arrangement.

Answer: B

20. Questions

Final arrangement:

@QuizByMickey

| Years | Persons |
|-------|---------|
| 1995  | B       |
| 1996  | I       |
| 1997  | E       |
| 1998  | A       |
| 1999  | F       |
| 2000  | G       |
| 2001  | H       |
| 2002  | J       |
| 2003  | D       |
| 2004  | C       |

We have,

- I was born in a leap year.
- Only three persons were born between I and G.
- E was born three years before G.

From the above conditions, there are three possibilities.

|       | Case-1  | Case-2  | Case-3  |
|-------|---------|---------|---------|
| Years | Persons | Persons | Persons |
| 1995  |         |         |         |
| 1996  | I       |         |         |
| 1997  | E       |         | E       |
| 1998  |         |         |         |
| 1999  |         |         |         |
| 2000  | G       | I       | G       |
| 2001  |         | E       |         |
| 2002  |         |         |         |
| 2003  |         |         |         |
| 2004  |         | G       | I       |

Again, we have,

- F was born immediately before G.
- As many persons were born before D as after I.
- A was born neither in 1995 nor in 2004.
- The number of persons born before F is one more than the number of persons born after H.
- Not more than two persons were born before B.
- As many persons were born before H as after A.

Here, case-2 is split into case-2a.

@QuizByMickey

|       | Case-1  | Case-2  | Case-2a | Case-3  |
|-------|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| Years | Persons | Persons | Persons | Persons |
| 1995  | B       | B       |         | D       |
| 1996  | I       |         | B       | B       |
| 1997  | E       | H       | H       | E       |
| 1998  | A       |         |         | A       |
| 1999  | F       | D       | D       | F       |
| 2000  | G       | I       | I       | G       |
| 2001  | H       | E       | E       | H       |
| 2002  |         | A       | A       |         |
| 2003  | D       | F       | F       |         |
| 2004  |         | G       | G       | I       |

Again, we have,

- C was born in an even-numbered year.
- Neither J nor D was born in a leap year.
- J was born after B, but before C.

From the above conditions, case-2 and case-2a gets eliminated because J was born after B, but before C, which is not satisfied and case-3 gets eliminated because C was born in an even-numbered year, which is not satisfied.

Hence, case-1 shows the final arrangement.

Answer: D (In all the other options, there is one person between the pairs of persons except option d)
