21. Questions

In the following question, a passage has been given and followed by several questions. You are required to answer the questions based on the information provided in the passage.

With eastern Europe and West Asia in prolonged turmoil, leaders of NATO's 32 member countries are gathered in Turkey for the Ankara Summit. The cornerstone of the world's most powerful alliance, enshrined in Article 5 of the North Atlantic Treaty, stipulates that an armed attack against one or more of its members will be considered an attack against all. But now, alongside the military threat from its principal adversary, Russia, NATO faces demands for more equitable burden-sharing from its principal financial contributor, the US. Last fortnight, NATO outlined the broad themes expected to dominate discussions during the Ankara Summit. The first is a topic that has been contentious ever since NATO's beginnings: Spending levels on defence by the alliance's European members.

At last year's summit in The Hague, the European members committed to investing 5 per cent of GDP in defence. This covers two categories. Each member must spend at least 3.5 per cent of GDP on core defence equipment and to meet NATO capability targets. In addition, NATO countries must spend 1.5 per cent of GDP on defence- and security-related investments, such as protection of critical infrastructure, defence networks, and strengthening the defence industrial base. The focus of the summit will be on delivering on the 5 per cent pledge with the US piling pressure on the European allies to step up. Washington is altering its contribution to NATO, pressing Europe to grow high-end capabilities such as logistics, command and control, aerial refuelling, missile defence, and special operations forces.

[A1] NATO watchers [P] dominate three themes to [Q] expect the [R] summit. The first will be a continued focus on "alliance adaptation", as NATO seeks to transform from a force optimized for crisis management to one focused on collective defence against peer competitors. The second will be "capability delivery", with NATO identifying its security requirements and actually fielding those capabilities at the speed demanded by today's security environment. The third will be "technology and industrial resilience". The rocky path to NATO's current 5 per cent commitment dates back to its founding in 1949. For its first 40 years, NATO formed the first line of western European defence against the threat of invasion by the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact. During the 1950s, NATO's European allies willingly spent an average of 4.8 per cent of their GDP on defence. Alongside this, the US heavily subsidised NATO, picking up 60-76 per cent of the tab for Europe's defence.

The sentence marked as A1 has three highlighted words. These words may/may not be placed in their correct order. Swap the words among them and place them in the correct order to form a grammatically and contextually meaningful sentence.
